

Funder Match Report

Prepared for Community health clinic, Virginia

Meroe LLC - Research and Data

31 August 2026

Your brief

- Organisation. Community health clinic, Virginia
- Cause. community health, health, human services
- Geography. Virginia
- Ask size. $25,000 to $50,000
- Annual budget. under $3M

25 foundations matched. Between them they paid $39,140,754 in grants in their latest filings, including 937 grants to VA organisations and 340 grants inside your ask range.

Twenty five private foundations whose most recent IRS Form 990-PF shows grantmaking that overlaps your cause, your state and your ask size. Every figure below is copied from that filing. The source link on each entry opens the filing itself so you can check any number in this report.

Methodology

The source is the IRS Form 990 Series e-file dataset, the machine readable copy of every electronically filed return, published at <https://www.irs.gov/charities-non-profits/form-990-series-downloads>. Private foundations file Form 990-PF, and Part XV of that form lists every grant the foundation paid during the year: recipient, city, state, purpose and amount. We parsed that section for every 990-PF in the dataset and built the grant history each entry below is drawn from. Organisation names, cities and NTEE codes are joined from the IRS Exempt Organizations Business Master File. No commercial database was used and no field was inferred by a language model.

Working universe for this report: 35,529 foundations with itemised grant schedules, covering 688,921 individual grants. 1,139 foundations cleared the geography and cause filters for your brief; the 25 highest scoring are shown.

How each foundation was scored

- Geography, 35 points. The share of the foundation’s itemised grants that went to VA organisations, plus a small credit if the foundation is itself based in VA. A foundation with no recorded grant in your state and no address in your state is excluded outright.
- Grant size, 25 points. How much of the foundation’s grant distribution falls inside your $25,000 to $50,000 range, with partial credit for grants within half to double that range.
- Cause overlap, 40 points. Matches between your cause vocabulary and two pieces of filed text: the stated purpose of each grant, and the names of the organisations the foundation actually funded. A foundation with no cause match at all is excluded.
- Access penalty, minus 18 or minus 4 points. Part XV of Form 990-PF has a box for foundations that only fund preselected organisations. Roughly three quarters of the filers in this dataset tick it, so it is scored against what the same filing does next: minus 18 where the box is ticked and no application procedure is given, minus 4 where the box is ticked but the filing goes on to say how to apply, nothing where the box is clear.

What was deliberately left out

Filers who report their grant schedule as a paper attachment rather than as structured data write placeholder rows such as “see attached statement”. Those rows carry no evidence, so they are discarded and the foundation is only included if enough real rows remain. Foundations with fewer than three itemised grants are excluded because a median grant size computed from one or two numbers is not meaningful. Contact names, addresses and application instructions are reproduced exactly as filed and are not corrected, supplemented or looked up elsewhere.

For 98.7% of the foundations in the working universe the total the filing states it paid in grants equals the sum of the grants it lists, which is the check that the schedule was read in full. Where the two disagree the entry carries a partial grant list warning, because those filers describe some of their giving in aggregate rather than line by line.

How to approach these funders

Start with the filing, not the pitch.

Every funder in this report has already told the IRS who it paid last year and how much. Before you write anything, open the source filing linked on the row and read its grant list. If you can name two grantees whose work sits next to yours, you have the opening line of your letter and you have evidence that the foundation is a real fit rather than a name on a list. If nothing on the list looks like you, move on. That judgement takes two minutes per funder and it is the single most useful thing you can do with these 25 rows.

Ask inside the band the filing shows.

The typical grant range on each row is the 25th to 75th percentile of what that foundation actually paid, not a published guideline. Small foundations rarely make an exception for a first-time applicant, so an ask above the band is usually the reason a request gets declined. If your project needs more than the band allows, ask for a phase of it, or ask two funders for complementary pieces. Where a row shows a count of grants inside your stated ask range, that count is the strongest single number on the page.

Expect contact, not a portal.

Most private foundations of this size have no website and no application form. The application method column carries whatever the foundation wrote on its own return, which is often a name, an address and a sentence. Where a row says the foundation only funds preselected organisations, a cold letter will not work and an introduction through a shared board member or a current grantee is the only realistic route. Where the filing is silent, a one page letter of inquiry to the address on the return, addressed to the officer named in it, is the normal first step. Give it six to eight weeks before you follow up.

Disclosure

This is public filing research, not an endorsement and not a guarantee of funding. Every foundation listed here was selected by an automated comparison of your brief against grants those foundations reported to the IRS. None of them has been contacted, none has expressed interest in your organisation, and none has any relationship with Meroe LLC. Inclusion in this report says only that the foundation's own filing shows grantmaking that overlaps your cause, your state and your ask size.

Filings lag one to two years. Form 990-PF is filed several months after a foundation's tax year closes and is published some months after that. A foundation's most recent public grant list is therefore typically one to two years old. Priorities change, programmes close, trustees turn over, and a foundation that funded your field in the filing year may not fund it now. Treat every entry as a lead to verify, not a fact about the present.

Verify before you apply. Confirm the foundation still exists and still accepts requests before spending time on a proposal. Contact details and application instructions are reproduced from the filing without correction and are sometimes out of date. Nothing in this report is legal, tax or fundraising advice. Meroe LLC accepts no liability for decisions made on the basis of it.
